

Is Bahrain's first solar panel company the start of a sea change?

This is good news for Solar One, Bahrain's first solar panels company. Since its founding in 2017, the startup boasts of contributing over two megawatts of solar to the country's energy mix -- enough to power around 380 US homes. It's a drop in the ocean, but it hopefully marks the beginning of a sea change.

What is the barrier to solar panels installation in Bahrain?

The results of the study did not identify a specific item perceived as the barrier to solar panels installation in Bahrain. This is likely due to the relatively new nature of solar panel installation in Bahrain and the participants' lack of clarity on the specifics involved.

Is Bahrain's energy mix diversifying?

Oil provides about 70% of government revenue - but Bahrain's reserves are expected to run out within the next decade. This - and the global push to transition away from dirty fuels - means that the kingdom is looking for ways to diversify its economy and energy mix. This is good news for Solar One, Bahrain's first solar panels company.

Is Bahrain ready for renewables?

But it's just a small step. Renewables, such as wind and solar, are yet to make even a small dent on the country's energy mix, where gas still dominates. Bahrain has set a national target for renewables to make up 5% of the country's energy supply by 2025 and 10% by 2035.

What are Bahrain's renewables targets?

Bahrain has set a national target for renewables to make up 5% of the country's energy supply by 2025 and 10% by 2035. These targets are part of a wider vision to diversify the economy, which has been hit heavily in the last decade.
