

Why does Curacao use wind energy?

Curacao's long history with wind energy has provided it with valuable experience in integrating variable energy resources into the electrical system while also demonstrating the value of avoiding petroleum-based electricity generation.

How much electricity does Curaçao produce?

Unlike most countries in the world, Curaçao generates about 34 percent of the current electricity production through wind and solar energy. In the Netherlands, that is merely 6 percent. Engineer Richenel Bulbaai from Curaçao defended his dissertation on this subject on 11 October 2019 at the University of Twente.

Does Curaçao have energy-efficient air conditioning?

Bulbaai conducted an extensive research in Curaçao. He analyzed the energy use of almost 400 households, more than 300 offices, 22 hotels, and 9 supermarkets. Many offices were already taking energy-efficient measures, mostly to save on costs. But of the 22 hotels, only sixty percent had energy-efficient air conditioning.

Why does Curacao face energy security issues?

Curacao faces energy security issues not only due to its reliance on imported fuels but also because of the age of its generation infrastructure. Thirty megawatts (MW) of Aquallectra's generation portfolio is beyond its expected service life and the surplus power from the RdK refinery is subject to frequent outages.

What is Curacao's energy policy?

In 2009, Curacao developed an energy policy document, which sets out general guidance and governing principles for further study of energy issues.⁴ It suggests the goal of reducing energy consumption by 40% by 2020 and encourages the investigation of combining wind power with storage to provide 100% of the island's energy needs.

How many wind turbines are there in Curacao?

Curacao features two of the oldest but most productive wind energy installations in the Caribbean. The first installation, a 12-turbine, 3-MW facility, was placed in service at Tera Kora in 1993.¹⁵ This was followed by an 18-turbine, 9-MW installation at Playa Kanoa in 2000.

The Solar Power System was designed by Swift Energy to replace the existing system produce continuous output of 24Vdc to supply the instrument loads in 8 hours/day. The daily consumption is about 208W. A General alarm has to connect to the client's SCADA system to report the failure of the system.
