

Vatican City State has its own electrical grid, using Rome's municipal grid as backup. For failover, the data center uses a UPS system by the Italian supplier Borri. All that adds up to a state of the art data center for a long-term preservation project. The film in (literally) cold storage will last some 500 years, and the Dell-EMC system ...

SmartGridCity is a technology pilot that explores smart-grid tools in a real-world setting. As part of SmartGridCity, Xcel Energy has successfully installed approximately 23,000 automated smart electric meters in Boulder, Colorado, United States as part of a new era in electricity grid management that will be able to meet the needs and maximize the benefits of electric vehicles. ...
